JOHNSON DIVERSEY DISTRIBUTION CENTER PROJECT RECEIVES BUSINESS JOURNAL REAL ESTATE AWARD

Riley Construction Company, Inc. is proud to have been a member of the team responsible for the successful completion of the JohnsonDiversey Distribution Center. The project received the Business Journal's 2007 Real Estate Award on April 10, 2008. One of more than 70 nominated projects, the facility won for the Best New Development or Renovation-Industrial category. The Business Journal Real Estate Awards were initiated in 2005 to recognize projects that have a major impact on southeast Wisconsin.

The JohnsonDiversey Distribution Center project also recently won the National Association of Industrial and Office Properties (NAIOP) Green Development Award. The Green Development Award, created in cooperation with the U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC), is given annually to a company who best exemplifies innovation, efficiency and quality in the field of green development.

Riley Construction Company, Inc. is proud to have provided construction services for the 550,000 square foot JohnsonDiversey Distribution Center, the largest LEED-Gold certified distribution center in the United States.
